New upgrade for Kindermann's touch display series

Kindermann's TD-11xx series of touch displays have been upgraded to Android 13, and got a new name - TD-11xx². They also offer new in-house developed whiteboard and annotation apps that are easy to use tools for inspiring lessons and creative collaboration.

A future-proof investment

The new Android 13 operating system ensures a longer service life for the IFPs. Especially in the education sector, these systems are usually in use for more than five years. Therefore, Kindermann relies on future-proof components anyway. The attractively priced TD-11xx² IFPs are equipped with a powerful octa-core processor, WiFi 6 and two USB-C interfaces. USB-C has the advantage that image, sound, data, touch and 65 watts of charging current can be transmitted via one connection. Thanks to support for up to 40 touch points, several people can work on the display at the same time, and the Microsoft Pen Protocol 2.0 is also covered. Wireless screen sharing is easily possible via dongle, app, AirPlay, Miracast and Chromecast. The series includes the sizes 65, 75 and 86 inches.

Apps made by Kindermann

As part of the update, two new apps developed in-house by Kindermann will also find their way onto the touch displays. A whiteboard app and an annotation app will be pre-installed on the devices with immediate effect. These are tailored to the requirements of school use and offer functions such as a ruler, compass and protractor. In business environments, the apps support creative methods such as design thinking. When developing the applications, the focus was on intuitive and simple use. This also applies to the user interface, which was also developed by Kindermann.

About Kindermann

Kindermann, founded in 1861, is the oldest company in the Pro AV industry and is today one of the leading suppliers acting as manufacturer and distributor. Kindermann has always managed in an intelligent way not only to adapt to new market conditions, but also to advance technologies.

Kindermann stands for conferencing, collaboration and connectivity. The world of work and education has changed massively. Collaboration in hybrid teams and digital teaching place new demands on technical equipment. This is exactly where Kindermann comes in with its smart solutions. Smart stands for intelligent, networked, intuitively operable, but also for sophisticated design.

The company has expanded its own portfolio and is thus represented internationally. For example, the Klick&Show product family is also very popular in many European countries. It shows how easily wireless collaboration and conferencing can work. The triumphant success of Kindermann touch displays is not only based on the trendsetting technology but is above all due to the intuitive user interface developed in-house. At the Eibelstadt site near Wuerzburg, series products such as table connection panels, brackets, ceiling lifts and media furniture are developed and manufactured. In addition, exclusive customer requests can be quickly implemented here.

Supplemented by a broad product portfolio in distribution, Kindermann enjoys an excellent reputation as a full-range supplier for conference, presentation and media technology, digital signage and dedicated education solutions.

As a manufacturer and distributor, Kindermann sells exclusively through qualified specialist dealers. Trade partners are supported with competent advice and individual project support - from planning to equipment and integration. Attractive special services round off the portfolio.
